Year 11 Students – the Way Forward

Dear Parents/Guardians

Now that Year 11 students are finishing their Final Exams for this Academic Year, I am going to outline how we will be continuing with our support to students during the month of May.

As a school, with the approval of the College Principal, we will be continuing with assisting Year 11 students online during the remaining four weeks before SEC exams start, according to the normal school timetable. This measure has been taken to ensure that no student misses out any SEC exam due to mandatory quarantine that might be issued by Health Authority in relation to a Covid-19 case at school. Students will continue studying from home, assisted online by our teachers during lesson time, for them to be more prepared for the upcoming SEC exams. We highly encourage students to take the opportunity and utilize this month to revise carefully and clarify with teachers any difficulties that might be encountered during study. Students and parents are more than welcome to contact school should there be the need during this time.

On Friday 30th April, the last day of Year 11 at school, since there are no exams, we will be organizing a brief farewell to our students, in full compliance with existing Health Authority regulations. Students can come to school in jeans and with the Form 5 personalized farewell t-shirts issued by the school. No mobile phones will be allowed and no transport arrangement will be provided after the farewell, which will conclude at around 10:30am. Students will then return home after this time.

Thank you for your cooperation

Best Regards

Joseph Ellul
